Customer Sites and Internet Protocol Addresses

Customer Sites

UC Berkeley	UC Riverside
UC Davis	UC San Diego
UC Irvine	UC San Francisco
UC Los Angeles	UC Santa Barbara
UC Merced	UC Santa Cruz
UC OP - California Digital Library

Internet Protocol Addresses

The California Digital Library (CDL) creates and maintains persistent identifiers to link entries in catalogs to licensed resources. This is done so that when a URL for a resource changes, we need only to update our persistent identifier (PID) and need not make changes in catalog records.

As part of the maintenance process, the CDL will periodically validate all PIDs to assure that they still resolve to the correct URLs. This will be done not more than once per week, and will appear to your server as a normal HTTP access. However, because the process is automated, it is considered a 'robot' or 'spider', as opposed to human-initiated retrieval. If your site maintains a robots.txt entry indicating that it does not permit programmatic access to the site, the CDL assumes permission to run its validation tool for the PIDs that the CDL has assigned to the licensed content. No reconfiguration of your robots.txt file is needed; our tool can be configured to bypass the robots.txt file. Please contact the CDL's Technical Coordinator if you have any questions or concerns about this process: TEXT DELETED

Schedule C

Payment

The fee payable in 2006 for the articles published in 2006 is equal to <sup>TEXT DE</sup> of the total paid for 2006 print subscriptions held at Customer Sites.

These fees are dependent on the following:

In the event of automatic renewal, the fee payable for 2006 shall not exceed the fee paid in 2005 by an amount greater than <sup>TEXT E</sup> more than the yearly UK Retail Price Index Percentage increase as measured on 31 December 2005, unless Publisher increases payments as allowed in Clause 6.6, in which case there will be no upper limit on the fee payable.
